We've all experienced it; flipping through an issue of Better Homes and Gardens we're hit with a moment of inspiration, motivating us to redesign, remodel and reinvent the most important, meaningful place in our lives...our homes. But without proper direction, these glimpses of home grandeur may begin to take on a life of their own, seeming too complicated, expensive and labor intensive to tackle alone.

Fortunately, your vision of a dream home does not have to be short lived. An interior designer can help provide a clear analysis of your needs while assessing functionality, budget and space planning. No matter the change you desire, The Interior Edge design firm can help your ideas and inspiration take form.

With over 40 years of combined experience, professional training and the innate ability to truly get to know each client, The Interior Edge can transform any space into a reflection of your personal style, taste and personality. Misty Skelly, owner of The Interior Edge, is a motivated interior design professional with 23 years of experience dedicated to giving her clients that extra "edge," as the name of her business commands.

The Interior Edge's passion for design is immediately evident through an examination of their work: showroom quality, beautifully designed spaces perfectly suited to the taste, needs and budget of each client. Misty is joined by designers Kenna Wise and Diana Wojciechowski servicing clients across the state of Texas.

"We are always striving to be better," said Misty, describing the goal of her firm and designers. "We're always looking for that extra edge to give our clients. We want our work to look different and fresh, we take pride in locating those pieces that you just won't find anywhere else."

Misty and her designers are constantly reviewing, examining and reading about emerging trends and styles found in major cities from Dallas to Las Vegas. By incorporating contemporary, fresh design elements while never losing sight of what makes each house a home-family heirlooms, antiques, photographs, etc.-The Interior Edge can help each home come alive, reflecting the personality of its inhabitants.

Misty, Kenna and Diana work side by side with each client, helping them to conceptualize and plan their vision while promoting timeliness and working within their budget.

"Some people think that hiring an interior designer is costly," stated Misty. "But, in all honesty, we can save you time and money, allowing you to spend those hours you would be driving around and working on your home with your family."

Recently, The Interior Edge helped convert The Gin at Nolan Creek—a Farmer's Gin and Co-Op building erected in 1927—into a restaurant in downtown Belton, Texas. The only remaining brick cotton gin in the United States, The Gin at Nolan Creek offered The Interior Edge a unique opportunity to assist in keeping the memory and history of the Gin alive for generations to come. A full service residential and commercial interior design firm, The Interior Edge has also designed model homes for premiere builders in San Antonio including McMillin Homes, DR Horton, Woodside Homes, and Bella Vista Homes, office space, apartments, and of course residences.

"I have known Misty Skelly and her team for over 20 years," said Rick Grinnan, a longtime client. "She has decorated not only my new home but several commercial properties...The Republic of Texas Restaurant on the River Walk, The Esquire Tavern, River Walk Properties, and my personal office. She has always exceeded my expectations and the projects have always come in on budget and on time while keeping me totally informed of the progress."

Whether you are seeking a complete design overhaul or an easy and affordable "mini home makeover," The Interior Edge can help transform your home or space into your personal haven.

"We can help you declutter, move furniture so it suits each room in a more pleasing manner, add pieces of art, rearrange your accessories or collectables...there's no job too big or too small," explained Misty. "Change is good and refreshing and it's amazing the difference you'll see."

Custom draperies, bedding, reupholstery, shutters, furniture, space planning, complete color analysis and coordination, flooring, and lighting are all services rendered by The Interior Edge. Through the use of accent paint colors, bold and beautiful patterns, textured fabrics and different architectural lines in furniture, The Interior Edge can help your dream home become a reality. According to Misty, this fall, emerging trends and design statements include clean, simple open spaces where less is more. Bigger is also better – large statement pieces are in. Straight lines, transitions without fluff, and red, golds, coppers and metallics continue to be a popular choice while purples and greys are also beginning to push through into the color scheme.

While trends and styles may change and evolve, The Interior Edge always strives to tie in a strong undercurrent of intimacy and warmth into their designs, incorporating meaningful belongings and family heirlooms into a home entirely unique to you and your family.

A client of The Interior Edge, Judy Minson, admired the firm's ability to put her ideas and vision into motion.

"The Interior Edge gave my rooms just what they needed," said Minson. "The design, choice of fabric, and workmanship were excellent. Everything was done with my personal taste in mind, but with the help in ideas I lacked."

Royce and Bev Gragg voiced similar sentiments, praising The Interior Edge for helping them turn "a nice home into one of extreme beauty."

"Kenna Wise saw what we had, where we had placed it, and knew immediately what she needed to do," explained the Graggs. "She repositioned pieces, added pieces, replaced pieces and turned our home into a place of beauty. We are told constantly by people visiting that we have a lovely home."

"I feel so blessed," concluded Misty. "My clients can see the love and passion I put into my work and as a thank you have referred their family and friends over the years. Kenna, Diana and I truly care and aim to make our clients happy."
